

Organizational Leadership & Communication at BELMONT UNIVERSITY

Are you interested in pursuing a master's degree that will advance your career? Choose a program that provides you with skills to succeed in a variety of fields. The Master of Education in Organizational Leadership and Communication will help you take your career to the next level.

Department of Education
1900 Belmont Boulevard
Nashville, TN 37212

615.460.6235
BELMONT.EDU

Belmont University is a Christian community. The university faculty, administration and staff uphold Jesus as the Christ and as the measure for all things. As a community seeking to uphold Christian standards of morality, ethics and conduct, Belmont University holds high expectations of each person who chooses to join the community. Belmont University does not discriminate on the basis of race, sex, color, national or ethnic origin, age, disability, military service or sexual orientation. Inquiries or complaints concerning the application of these policies to students should be directed to the Dean of Students, Beaman Student Life Center Suite 200, 1900 Belmont Blvd., Nashville, TN 37212, deanofstudents@belmont.edu or 615.460.6407.

CLASS-15134

Organizational Leadership & Communication

MASTER OF EDUCATION

FROM HERE TO ANYWHERE

“I recently accepted a directorship and if it were not for the M.Ed. program I do not think I could successfully do my job. The program taught me to own my leadership skills. My cohort became my family and we all pushed each other to be successful. This program really shaped my life and career.”

ROBBY QUARLES

Director of Multicultural Programs and Services
West Virginia Wesleyan College

WHAT MAKES US UNIQUE?

Belmont's Master of Organizational Leadership & Communication program is designed to build skills and knowledge for practical application in the workplace. The central aim of the program is the development of organizational leaders as reflective practitioners who are skilled in observation, analysis, synthesis and dialogue. Ethical decision making is considered a core value of the program and is explicitly addressed in a variety of contexts.

Students completing the program will develop their leadership potential and explore leadership styles and models while learning to:

- Thrive in periods of organizational change
- Lead Effective Teams
- Effectively communicate to internal and external audiences
- Anticipate global trends and changes

Belmont University is located in Nashville, Tennessee, which has recently been ranked in national top ten lists for cities creating the most tech jobs (Forbes); fastest growing big cities (Census Bureau); best cities to work for a small business (WalletHub); arts vibrancy (National Center for Arts Research); and even friendliness (Travel + Leisure). Nashville's leading industries include finance and insurance, health care, music and entertainment, publishing, transportation technology, higher education, biotechnology, and tourism and conventions.

Because of Belmont University's strong academic reputation and the connections of its faculty in the community, students in the Master of Education in Organizational Leadership & Communication program have access to many industries and nonprofit organizations, providing them with numerous opportunities to network and advance their careers.

To meet the demands of your busy lifestyle, the program offers the convenience of classes held every other Saturday over the course of a semester. The 30-credit hour program is designed for completion in 24 months by the working professional. The program culminates in the development of a project of your choice and design that you can use to increase the effectiveness of your organization.

DISCOUNT THROUGH THE CENTER FOR NONPROFIT MANAGEMENT

Belmont's significant emphasis on learning and service led to a partnership with CNM to guarantee students have Middle Tennessee's best experts to direct courses and share their experiences. In addition, students who are employed by organizations that are members of the Center for Nonprofit Management will be eligible for discounted tuition. Belmont will contribute 25 percent of the total tuition for students who are employed by organizations that are members of the Center for Nonprofit Management, leaving the student and his or her organization to split the remaining seventy-five percent.

IN & OUT OF THE CLASSROOM

EXAMPLES OF COURSES YOU WILL TAKE:

- Media and Organizational Communication
- Interpersonal Dynamics in Organizations
- Organizational Culture and Change
- Pragmatics of Leadership